A sweet nutty ale sweeps the palate. Very nice. Pours medium brown with a disappointingly thin brown head. 5/6 Speed rating. This beer has a a decent amount of taste, yet still manages to maintain its drinkability. Quite smooth with each pull. I'm certain I'm going to enjoy this beer the more I drink it. 6/6 Intangible. I love the Canadian microbreweries. This one pours at 650ml at 5.5%abv. Perfect. Unfortunately no website yet. A reasonable label tops the intangible. Presently watching Stephen Ames contend for the PGA title. From the Bottle Quote: The velvety soft ale is an Okanagan winner. Rich dark malts, layered in a seamless manner, produce an amazingly smooth finish.

5.5/6 Overall taste quality. This beer gets better with each pull. The nutty sweetness is the predominate flavour which is highlighted by a rich malty aftertaste. If this beer was able to produce a better head I would have given it perfect marks. Nonetheless, a fine product to be enjoyed many times in the future.

22/24 Total

Intoxication Level /6 First-o-day.

Optional Comments It's not that hard to create a website gentleman...
